Publisher quitting the Herald Tribune

Paris (AP)—Robert T. MacDonald, publisher of the International Herald Tribune for the past 10 years, has resigned; the paper announced in today's edition.

The paper said Mr. MacDonald, 46, would be replaced January 1 by Robert R. Eckert, 56-year-old president and publisher of the Binghamton (N.Y.) Sun-Bulletin and Press.

Mr. MacDonald, former executive vice president of the now-defunct New York Herald Tribune, joined the Paris-based International Herald Tribune in 1966. He is returning to the United States to "pursue other interests," the paper said.

The International Herald Tribune is the largest English-language newspaper in Europe, with a daily circulation of 117,000 throughout Western Europe and parts of Asia and Africa.
